We are looking forward to seeing you!

“Innovation is one of the driving forces shaping our economy today. No matter who you are, some of these changes are going to be an integral part of your life in some manner. Rather than passively watch as others reap the benefits of these changes, we here at RISE believe that everyone should be active participants in the middle of this continual revolution. To realize this goal, we’re extending an invitation to students, alumni, & individuals from other universities to Rose Startup!. Regardless of your experience or creativity, this event can empower you to make your ideas a reality!”
